Let's do BRUNCH

BERRY HILL FOOD CO

With a warm atmosphere and expertly crafted menu, quality meets cool at Berry Hill. Brunch-goers look forward to delectable options like rum-infused French Toast or warm honey butter biscuits. Eggs Benedict fans will appreciate the scratch-made Hollandaise.

Come hungry for a classic bacon and eggs Farmhouse Fry, or try the North African favourite shakshuka skillet: poached eggs in a spiced tomato sauce with onions, chickpeas, feta and naan. It is easy to settle into lunch or dinner with an excellent burger (beef, lamb or spiced lentil patty), Napolitan-style pizza or even a chimichurri steak sandwich. Memorable sweets like banana bread pudding with chocolate simply hit the spot for dessert.

CRAVE DOUGHNUTS

Crave is the local “doughnie” craze that just won’t quit. The signature brioche dough is fluffy and light, hand made from scratch daily and transformed into a flavour phenomenon. The menu changes weekly, but look for favourites like vanilla sprinkle, French toast, maple bacon, confetti cake, and mango coconut lime. All glazes, custards, and creams are scratch-made in-house.

Customers rave over the expertly crafted seasonal drinks like sweet iced tea, apple cider and Mexican horatcha too. Hot tip: Order ahead for early morning pick-up – the shop closes when they sell out.

UNCLE FLUFFY

If you know you know, Japanese cheesecake is a unique dessert that will delight even the most worldly sweet tooth. Uncle Fluffy’s souffle-like cheesecakes are light, airy and slightly less sweet than a traditional cheesecake. Enjoy one plain and minimalist or with a topping of chocolate, strawberry or caramel. The tarts have a flaky crust that is filled with either sweet and tangy chocolate or original Hokkaido cheese.

Pair with a cup of premium coffee, and you’re set for a new flavour adventure.

ENNISKILLEN GENERAL STORE

It all began in the post office, back in 1840. Don't be fooled by sizes like Big Baby: these are all mammoth scoops. While you're there, be sure to browse their selection of snacks, giftware and local and imported candy too. Jump out to buy the paper, return with ice cream. It is only tradition.

Food TRUCK CORRAL

What should you pack for a trip to The Food Truck Corral? According to the General Manager Max Lysyk, bring “an open mind and an empty stomach.” It’s good advice, considering he has wrangled nearly a dozen trucks to his plot of land in the rural fringe of North Oshawa. Here, a quiet nook near the hydro corridor has been transformed into an exciting destination for street food lovers. Stop by and sample wood-fired pizza, authentic Polish street food, hot Caribbean BBQ, freshly cut Ontario fries and a feast of fusion in between.

The inspiration came in 2020, a creative solution to the problems the COVID-19 pandemic brought. “Local restaurants were struggling to make ends meet and families were not able to get together,” says Lysyk, whose family operates the Corral. The Corral would be a win-win for purveyors and diners alike: Food trucks let small local entrepreneurs get up and running with minimal investment.

Diners were craving a fresh change of scenery with easy social distancing. Food trucks fit the bill! And interesting food is just the start: Lysyk and the truck operators work hard to create a fun, comfortable space and foster a real community hub. Diners can grab a bite and mingle at one of the painted cruiser tables or spread out at a picnic table in the shade. Free parking for around 100 vehicles is a tailgater’s dream.

The location is remote enough for a taste of rural escape, but a short enough drive meet friends and foodies for a quick meal. Responsible owners are welcome to bring leashed pets, and country-themed cut-outs create fun photo moments. Look for themed events such as Victoria Day face painting and fire works, Canada Day Festival with local vendors, decorated trucks for Christmas in July, and Customer Appreciation Day. In fall, pumpkins are sold with proceeds going to support local charities.

The fun is just getting started: plans are in the works to construct a play area with a splash pad too! With long hours throughout the season, The Food Truck Corral is a great place to linger. “Stay for the sunsets!” says Lysyk, referring to the view west along the toward the rolling ridge of the Oak Ridges Moraine.

“The food is incredible and the sunsets are absolutely stunning.” Meet you there!
